Television, popcorn and a big tall glass dietepsi has me set for a relaxing evening. I love the amount of extra butter that is on theater popcorn. I can't seem to duplicate this flavor at home, even with the theater style butter popcorn packages. My problem was finally solved. I found Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning for my popcorn.

I was initially attracted to the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning because of the bottle design. It is a light yellow color with a rich butter color. The Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning is labeled butter. I really didn't see any other flavors though on the grocery shelf though. So, to be honest, I'm not sure if the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning comes in other option than just butter. My favorite flavor is butter so I really didn't look that hard either after I saw that the flavor of the Kernel Season's Popcorn

Seasoning is butter.

One of the qualities that I like about the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning is the great taste. It has a very rich buttery taste. I can sprinkle it on my popcorn and instantly get that movie theater butter flavor that I like so much. This is literally the first product that I've found that you can actually duplicate the incredible flavor of movie theater butter. The Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning makes it possible to bring this flavor home without having to stuff extra popcorn into your pockets to nibble on after you get home.

You can even smell the butter when you open the bottle of the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning. You just know when you take the lid off of the bottle of the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning that it is going to taste so delicious and good.

Another great quality of the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning is the fine powder that it comes out as. It is very powdery. You can put the Kernel Season's Popcorn Seasoning on the popcorn, shake the bag and you're ready to go. I like that it's fine enough powder to stick to my popcorn, but it doesn't clump up and ruin the popcorn.
