Review for Kernel Season's "No More Naked Popc.."

by MissMaryMac on Feb 26 at 07:02 PM

See what Neato thought of Kernel Season's Popcorn Pack!

1101 posts

She tried:

- 1-pound popcorn
- Aerosol can of Popcorn Spritzer -- butter flavor
- Assortment of six popcorn seasoning shakers: ranch, butter, kettle corn, white cheddar, parmesan&garlic, nacho cheddar.
- Bottle of movie-theatre-butter flavored popping oil

These were very fun to review. DD loves popcorn, I mean, really loves it, so this was great for her. I popped the popcorn then split it up into separate baggies. The seasonings were easy to shake on that way, and it kept everything separate.

Popcorn

The popcorn itself was very good. It popped up easily and left very few hard pieces or unpopped kernels. As you all know, I'm not the best cook - I didn't burn it or anything! I really liked this popcorn. I would buy it again.

Movie Theatre Butter flavored popping oil

Cooked the popcorn in it instead of regular oil per the directions. I was pleased that it had directions - not everyone knows instinctively how to pop popcorn on the stove! It smelled really good but didn't really add any flavor. We also put it over the popcorn when it was done, and it still didn't taste buttery. It was fine for popcorn oil, but don't get your hopes up that it will really taste like movie popcorn. Also the lid on the bottle wouldn't close so I'm afraid it is going to be spilled.

Popcorn Spritzer -- butter flavor

The spritzer also didn't really add any flavor. It was more like spraying more oil on the popcorn so the flavoring would stick. I think it might be really designed for air-popped popcorn. I did use this on some rice cakes to add the nacho flavoring to them, and that worked out well.

Seasonings

We tried 4 of the flavors on the popcorn (butter, nacho, kettle corn, & white cheddar). I just couldn't bring myself to try the ranch or parmesan garlic on popcorn, so we tried them on baked potatoes.

Butter - tasted just like what comes in those tins at Christmas. It was good.

Nacho - was very good and had a little spice to it. This was DD's favorite on popcorn. We also tried this on a baked potato, and it wasn't very good. Much better on the popcorn.

Kettle Corn - not good! It wasn't at all salty like real kettle corn. It was just like pouring sugar over popcorn. DD liked it, but she likes anything sweet.

White Cheddar - my favorite on popcorn. It reminded me of the white cheddar popcorn you can buy at the grocery.

Ranch - this was pretty good on a baked potato. I'm not a huge fan of ranch dressing, but it was DD's favorite on a potato.

Parmesan Garlic - this was my favorite on the baked potato. DD said it was too garlic-y for her but she continued to eat it, so it must not have been that bad. I think this would make excellent garlic toast too, but I haven't tried that yet.

This review was really fun. We all love popcorn. The Kettle Corn was really the only thing we didn't enjoy, and I would definitely buy the popcorn and the white cheddar and parm garlic flavorings again.

Neato, I am not a big fan of ranch flavored stuff, but I made myself try it when I reviewed this product last month. I am telling you, you should too! I was so surprised that it and the parm garlic ended up being my favorites. I was glad to see what someone else's thoughts were on this product! :-)

Ranch and Parmesan Garlic Popcorn? Really, those were your favorites??

They made a good potato, I guess I will have to try them on popcorn, since you say so... and we are long lost sisters afterall...

I want to try them on some fries (you know, a baked potato would be WAY too healthy!), I think that would be awesome. And you can dream about how good they were as you sleep 9+ hours per night :-)
